

HOW TO TELL IF A COACH'S WALLET IS REAL

Buying a branded product has always been a desire for the people whether living in the west or east. Besides planning to buy such a worthy and original product, one has to make sure about its authenticity; if a particular good that he is buying is actually branded or just a replica. Assuring authentic brand's material has become an essential part before approaching original company products. The same applies to the Coach's Wallet as well. There are a lot of such companies that produce counterfeit Coach's wallets. People are easily deceived through exactly the same looking Coach's Wallet as if it is an original one. However, there are many factors that one has to keep in mind before getting to grips with the counterfeits. Obviously, going through proper knowledge of the Coach's Wallet regarding its quality, material, and other features is a must.

For helping you in this concern, we are here to discuss some of the considerations that are important to be fixed into your brains when buying branded Coach's Wallet. Here is how to tell if a Coach's Wallet is real:

Check the Design:

Design of the original Coach's Wallet has typically two different parts. The first one to focus on is the brand's logo that acts as a trademark for the company. This logo contains a single thick-lettered "C" which is situated on the opening of the ladies wallet whereas, for the men's wallet, the logo is somewhat different, having the word "COACH" written in such a way that each next letter fixes into the previous. Both the logos point out the wallet to be real. What the counterfeits do mistake is that they apparently use letters "O" and "G" instead of "C" which is definitely an easy way to distinguish between fake and genuine. The second part of the Coach's Wallet design is its color. You should take a careful look on the wallet's color and match it with the original one from the website. Color flaws are common in the replicas and one has to focus on that in order to get his desired branded Coach's Wallet.

Inspect the Fabric:

Coach's Branded Wallet has typically a trademark fabric used in its creation i.e. fine quality leather. Leather is of different types but the two most popular and newly used leather fabrics by Coach are the Rainbow Patent Leather and the Garcia Leather. The first one of them i.e. Rainbow Patent Leather is made from natural cow hide whereas the second i.e. Garcia Leather is created from tanned Italian cow hide. Both material are slightly different but are completely flawless. Due to the use of these entirely exceptional fabric materials, the Coach's Wallet seems to have a smooth and soft touch. So you have to enhance your touching ability and try to feel the touch of the material. On the other hand, if we see the fabric stuff that the counterfeits use, it does not have such a level as compared to the genuine. When you will touch the material of the replica, it would feel rugged and shoddy. In addition to this, the stuff seems to have a very rough look and often the knock-offs use pleather material which clearly provides an unusual touch besides the fine and smooth touch of the real one. Apart from the two super quality leather types, Coach uses numerous other fabric types for the manufacture of its genuine wallets. These different stuffs include Sparkle Leather (made from cow hide and buffed sandpaper), Herringbone weave, sateen, canvas, python leather (embossed), crocodile leather, etc. All of these varieties are of the top-most quality that one can easily judge just through touching the glossy and evergreen material.

Look Over the Stitching:

The official Coach's Wallet has a flawless stitching all over it. Any inspection regarding the stitches if reveals mistake, it is for sure that the wallet you are going to purchase is not the real one. One of the most common mistake that the counterfeits do is the disturbed alignment of the stitches as the original one has a perfectly straight stitch line and mostly, the replicas do not. Moreover, the genuine product usually does not have any gap or a space between each and every stitches. If you find any, it is clearly doubtful.

Hardware Examination:

Going through hardware part of the Coach's Wallet is very necessary as this tiny factor, if ignored, can definitely result in the purchase of a fake one. Here, you have to focus the material of the logo as well as the zipper quality of the wallet. Talking about the logo's material on the genuine Coach's Wallet, it is built up of heavy metal and has a lasting shine as compared to the replica wallet, which seems much lighter and made of low quality plastic material. Secondly, the zipper in the branded Coach's Wallet is fabricated through high-quality YKK Zippers having bronze color and a line on both, upper and lower side of the zipper. If you observe any missing feature regarding the hardware of Coach's Wallet, it is likely to be the fake one.

Price Observation:

You must be thinking that how to tell if a Coach's Wallet is real by looking at its price? Is it possible or isn't? The answer is a big YES. Obviously, the company reveals its branded products which are made up of super robust material whether it is Wallet's fabric, zipper, hardware, design, or even its stitches. Assuring a long-lasting material quality, the rates of the Coach's branded wallets are a little higher without any doubt. But if we see the knock-offs, most of the wallets have far lower price as compared to branded ones. So, before planning to buy a genuine Coach's Wallet, you must check its price from the official Coach website. This would really help you to take a better decision.
