

HOW TO CLEAN PATENT LEATHER PURSE

From the 19th century yet today, the leather cloth is always been a sensational stuff for fabricating a wide range of accessories including purses, shoes, jackets, boots, belt, etc. The origin or we can say that the source from which leather is carried out is none other than the skin of some specific animals. These animals include calves, goat, bison, sheep, horse, deer, etc. as these are hunted in order to get their skins for manufacturing leather. People adore to wear leather stuffs and love to use goods made from this material. Obviously it is due to the attraction and durability of the material that makes anyone to select leather products apart from the goods made of other materials. Furthermore, leather stuffed accessories are found to have a great worth in the winter season as people all around the world prefer to wear jackets, uppers, socks, skirts, and even gloves that are made from pure leather.

This article focuses on different types of leather stuffs and the products that are made from them. Moreover, we shall discuss some tips and methods on how to clean patent leather purse which will be obviously very helpful for the ladies out there. So, let us have a look further.

DIFFERENT TYPES OF LEATHER:

There are numerous types of leather that are totally different from each other and one has to take a careful consideration about the durability and quality of the material before paying for it. Knowing different types of leather materials can definitely help in this regard. Here are some common types of leather that one have to know for sure:

Faux Leather:

Faux Leather is a very popular type of leather mainly built from the synthetic materials of plastic and rubber-like fabric. It is a man-made leather which goes through a particular process in order to get ready. The material composition of the Faux Leather seems to be very exceptional. People prefer Faux Leather material for decorative purposes and most likely they use it for their furniture. The best thing about Faux Leather is that it resembles to the pure leather material as per its look as well as durability. It is obvious that pure leather is totally different from Faux Leather. What makes both different is the water absorption, as the Pure Leather absorbs water substance but Faux Leather doesn't.

Bonded Leather:

Bonded Leather is considered as the most low-cost leather material. The Bonded Leather is made up of the mixture of fiber and shredded leather particles. The process seems to resemble to that of the production of a paper. After mixing process, it is then attached to a backing cloth and left for being dried. As soon as the moisture dries away from the material, the Bonded Leather is ready to use. Bonded Leather is actually not examined as a leather stuff as it just only contains 10 to 17 percent of leather but at the same time the material is much attractive. Bonded Leather is used to manufacture goods like purses, sofas, belts, etc. Moreover, the material's lastingness still remains a question mark.

Suede Leather:

Suede Leather, another popular type of leather stuff, is manufactured through the inner portion of the hides of different animals like. Cows, goat, lambs, deer, etc. The quality and finishing of the Suede Leather stuff apparently depends upon the hide of these different animals. It consists of a thin and soft innermost layer. Overall if we see, the durability of the Suede Leather stuff is good, having much cheaper price than Genuine Leather. The only annoyance that this material creates is the cleaning process as it rapidly gets dirty and requires a great effort to retain its tidiness. Some products fabricated through Suede Leather are shoes, purses, shirts, etc.

Full-Grain Leather:

One of the most expensive leather stuff in the market is none other than the Full-Grain Leather. You must be thinking that what makes it so special and worthy? The answer is obviously its originality. The Full-Grain Leather is made up of pure, unprocessed hide of animals. The manufacturers just remove the hairs on the skin and put up some finishing touches to make the Leather ready. The most beautiful thing of the Full-Grain Leather is its genuine texture. Moreover, it is considered to be the most high class leather among other types.

Bi-Cast Leather:

Another cheap type of leather which is much inexpensive and less reliable with respect to its quality. The Bi-Cast Leather is made up of multiple thin coated layers stitched with one another. The top layer consists of the material known as polyurethane which contains mixture of paints, foam and adhesives. Bi-Cast Leather looks like real leather stuff but actually it is far from that quality as well as robustness. Eventually, its price decreases but the people who like it, buy it.

Genuine Leather:

A high quality leather made up of the third layer of the hide of animals. This third layer refers to the layer which is left behind after the separation of upper layers for the production of Full-Grain and Top-Grain leather. After the carrying out of the third layer of animal hide, it goes through a particular process in order to attain best shape and texture with maximum finishing effect to make it attractive. The material requires a good care to make it long-lasting. In addition, all of the necessary products like purses, Furniture, shoes, etc. are being built using this amazing stuff.

Patent Leather:

Patent Leather is a shiny and glossy material made up of synthesized material. The surface of the stuff is water-resistant which makes it vivid to realize. As the leather has an attractive look, it is widely used to make formal accessories like belts, shoes, handbags, purses, etc. When using any sort of a product which is made up of Patent Leather material, one has to take care of the scratches that may occur if taken for granted. Furthermore, the material is not much costly to build, thus the products manufactured from Patent Leather are also easily affordable.

METHODS TO CLEAN A PATENT LEATHER PURSE:

Cleaning leather material is not a big challenge but requires different methods and techniques to carry out. These methods and techniques obviously vary from type to type of the leather goods. The most important thing to remember is to go defensive when cleaning leather stuffed goods, otherwise, it may result in tearing out of the leather material. After getting a brief know-how about some different types of leather, we are keen to describe how to clean patent leather purse. So, without any other discussion, let us focus on different techniques to put in mind:

How to Clean Sticky Patent Leather Bag:

- Through Soapy Solution:

Soapy Solution can be made through mixing soap liquid and a little warm water with each other. This solution can then be applied on the areas of your purse where you find stickiness. Usually, you can use a piece of T-Shirt or any other old rag for applying the solution. Drying the purse with a towel is definitely the last and the least thing to do.

- Through Using Petroleum Jelly:

You will definitely find interesting how to clean patent leather purse or bag which seems sticky through the use of Petroleum Jelly. It seems a little weird but it is possible. What you have to do is to take a small amount of Petroleum Jelly and apply it on your purse at different points having sticky surface. After this, take a white cotton cloth and rub each of the applied Jelly in a circular way. You will find your purse look clean and stickiness free again.

How to Clean Patent Leather Stains:

- Through Detergent and Water:

Liquid Detergent is obviously created to get rid of germs, dirt and stains. However, making it a little dilute can help in cleaning patent leather purse or bag having stains. You have to take 1 Tablespoon of the detergent in a cold cup of water of around 120ml. Apply the Detergent solution on your purse with the help of a cloth and then dry it with a clean cloth. You are done with it.

How to Remove Scuff Marks from Patent Leather Bag:

- Through Nail-Polish Remover:

If you are annoyed due to the black scuffs on your Patent Leather purse, not to worry. Take out your Nail-polish remover and apply it on the spots through the help of a cotton ball. Now, take a moist cloth and apply all over your purse to remove any remaining Nail-polish leftovers. Let the purse dry and it is done.

How to Remove Color Transfer from Patent Leather:

- Through Rubbing Alcohol:

Color Transfer or discoloration on your Patent Leather bag or purse can easily be fixed through using alcohol. You will need a small amount of rubbing alcohol and two pieces of clean cloth. Simply drop some amount of alcohol on one of the cloth and start rubbing the surface of Patent Leather where the discoloration has affected. Next, wipe out all of the area with the second clean cloth piece. The color transfer is definitely gone.

CONCLUSION:

After going through this guide, you must have been amazed to note down some types of Leather and how to clean patent leather purse. No worries if you are having problems in cleaning your purse made up of the patent leather material. Just follow the guided methods to get your job done.